Key Insights & Suggestions

1. Carrots and Oatmeal Raisin are the strongest performing products
2. Banana generates almost no sales, suggesting weak customer demand
3. Demand is not evenly distributed across products. This is risky as a decline in one major product could significantly reduce sales
4. The company should continue investing in its strongest category, Cookies, while reviewing weaker categories to determine whether they need adjusting in price, or other strategic changes
